

Registers Report 30/3/25

The changeover for Registers emails to the .co.uk addresses has taken place, albeit with a few hiccups, although it seems all is now sorted. I had tried to contact most of the Registrars, but some did not respond and those who did seemed to have problems getting their emails to work. Dave managed to get them all up and running for which I am grateful.

As you may have seen from Chris Maxfield's message, things are progressing with Registers Day. He is visiting the site today (30th March), and I have requested photos as I am unable to attend. One issue that has arisen is that one member wishes to book one of the camping pods, but has requested that a disabled toilet be placed nearby. I have not yet worked out a solution as the alternative would be for them to camp near the area where the entertainment will take place, which will be noisy. I do not know the cost of placing a disabled toilet where requested, and whether or not it would be convenient for others to use, thus perhaps justifying the expense.

I do still need to finalise the minor changes to the Registers forms, and provide Dot with details for the generic form to go in the magazine. My day job is currently occupying a lot of my time, but once things settle down I should be able to concentrate more on my committee duties.
